SHERHAN MEN NAME TICKET.

THEY PUT UP FUSION'S CANDIDATES IN A HURRY.

The Greater New York Democracy held its city, county and borough conventions last night in Cooper Union and nominated as its candidates, without one voice of dissent from first to last, the men who make up the fusion ticket. The convention was marked by two particular features. The first was the enthusiasm which continued unbroken throughout the evening and the second was the severity of the denunciation of the State.

Ellery Anderson remarked that the issue in this election was simply whether the public officers of the city, whether its valuable franchises, and its great revenues, belong to the people or to the politicians. Mr. Low's nomination was carried by a rising vote amid the greatest enthusiasm. John J. Jeroloman, in presenting Justice Jerome's name to the convention for District Attorney, read a letter from District Attorney, read a letter from District Attorney is particularly fortunate. For ability, honesty and zeal for the public interests no better candidate could have been considered than William Travers Jerome. If he shall be elected the public will be assured that the work of the present Administration will be continued effectively, for not only has he repeatedly proven his entire sympathy with its efforts, but his experience as an assistant District Attorney and as Judge in a criminal court emin. In Judicians.

John J. Warner nominated that the issue in this election was simply whether the public officers of the city, whether the public officers of the city, whether the public officers of the city, whether its valuable franchises, and its great revenues, belong to the people of to the poblic officers of the city, whether its valuable franchises, and its great revenues, belong to the people of to the poblic officers of the city, whether its valuable franchises, and its great revenues, belo second was the severity of the denunciations of Tammany, its leaders and its ad-ministration. Men who have all their tives been members of the organization, demned in unstinted language the corrup-tion which had manifested itself in the municipal government of the past four

John C. Sheehan, who occupied a front seat on the platform, was repeatedly cheered. Five hundred of his supporters in the Ninth Assembly district led by Louis Munzinger marched to the meeting headed by a brass band and singing: "We'll hang Dick Croker to a sour apple tree." William Hepburn Russell was appointed permanent chairman He said that the fight in this campaign on the part of the Democrate who are in revolt against Croker and Crokerism, is entirely against the misrule which had marked

'Are we to have the sovereignty of the ballot box," he asked, "or are our officers of the city to be dictated to from the Democratic Club; are we to have the right to select our own leaders or are we to play the part of messenger boys between the Democratic Club and the Fourteenth street

The platform adopted by the convention, which was frequently cheered, is as

THE PLATFORM.

The Greater New York Democracy, in city convention assembled, declare the principles and purposes of the party organization to be the following:

First—as Democrata, whose highest duty is that of good citizenship, we appeal to all good Democrate who believe in true Democracy and the teachings of Thomas Jefferson to sid us in rescuing the Democratic party organization from the manifest evils of 'Crokerism.'

Second—We declare our purpose, through our organization, to restore the Democratic of New York city to control of the party organization in this city and to make that organization representative and Democratic in all respects.

Third—We denounce as un-Democratic and un-American the present leadership of Tammany Hail and condemn the policy of boesism, misrule and corruption, of which Richard Croker, John F. Carroll, Timothy D. Sullivan and William S. Devery are the exponents and public representatives.

Fourth—We declare that the chief issue of this municipal campaign is the system of police corruption and efficial blackmail with which our city is honeycombed to-day, and we condemn and denounce the protection of vice and the combination with crime for which Crokerism is responsible.

Fifth—As Democrata, we charge Richard Croker with responsibility for the existing corruption and misrule, and denounce him as an unfit man to be a Democratic leader in city, State or Nation. Therefore, we appeal to all true Democrate to aid us with their votes under our party emblem in our effort to dethrone Richard Croker and his feudal reign and drive him as the "Squire of Wantage" permanently to his English domain, if the law in its majesty does not hold him here to answer for high crimes and misdemeanors against the public welfare. Sixth—We pledge ourselves to so reform the Democratic party organization in the city of New York as to make it truly representative in every Assembly and election district; to make Democratic primaries something more than machines to register the will of a "boas," and to regain for t prived him.

Seventh—We join with Comptroller Coler in the declaration that Tammany Hall under Richard Croker is more corrupt than it was under Tweed. Should Croker plead guilty to the charge, by consenting to the nomination of Comptroller Coler as the Tammany candidate for Mayor, he would thereby compounded the Compound of Comptroller Coler as the Campound of Comptroller Coler as the Tammany candidate for Mayor, he would thereby compounded the Compounded Comptroller Coler as the Tammany conditions of Comptroller Coler as the Campounded Col candidate for Mayor, he would thereby com-nit political suicide, and should the Comp-troller accept a nomination from Croker, Carroll and Sullivan, he must concede his willingness to be the representative of those whom he has denounced as worse than whimmes to be the representative of those whom he has denounced as worse than Tweed.

Fighth—We quote and conour in Comptroller Coler's statement that "the conscience of a politician can thrive on subterfuge and false reasoning," and that to place in power "the man whose word is the law" to a great crganization, and whose only purpose is "to work for his own pocket all the time," is to make certain that such "power can be used to enrich favored corporations and individuals, and to crush any and every legitimate business that refuses to engage in questionable transactions with the representatives" of his power.

We declare that any man, no matter how honest or capable he may be, who accepts a nomination upon the Tammany ticket through the agency of Croker, Carroll and Sullivan must subject himself to their control, and pledge himself in advance to carry out their orders, because, as the Comptroller has well said, "the secret channels through which favore and punishments may be conveyed, are beyond the reach of investigation or exposure" and "with an unscrupulous and corrupt political party or organizaton in absolute control of every department of government in a great city like New York, every inhabitant, from the millionaire banker or munifacturer, to the penniese bootblack or newsboy on the street, can be forced to recognize the power of commercialism in politics."

Surely, a power so great as this can control and dictate to its own nominees for office, and therefore, even an honest and competent man may be made the vehicle of oppression, corruption and misrule if he stands for Tammany and Crokerism as a candidate. Ninth—We also believe that the city of New York and its public utilities should be under the control of the people and of a government that represents the people. Therefore, we declare that the Greater New York Democracy affirmatively demands:

School rooms for all the school children of New ork, sufficient teachers of the highest grade, and an absolutely non-partisan administration of our school

An adequate water supply for every borough with the water supply system under municipal ownership and control in all its branches, and free from private contracts for private profit.
Clean streets, such as Waring gave us, and an abolition of the corrupt "shake down" spatem now prevailing in the Street Cleaning lepariment.
The extension of the underground Rapid Transit system to all the boroughs, under such financial plans as shall retain municipal ownership without additional taxation or an increase of municipal indebtedness.

Public works and improvements for the benefit of all the people additional public baths, steady im-provements of the public parks; more playground for the children, but no more speedways for a favored few.

Rigid municipal control and regulation of francises granted for public utilities, with a system of utilitable acculation of all means of city transit restire upon franchise grants, so that, without confacato, but by honorable purchase at a fair valuation, ettly may utilimately resum ownership or control all franchises heretofore granted for transit and gitting purposes.

of all franchises heretofore granted for transit and lighting purposes.

Stringent municipal supervision of all corporations exercising transit franchises with a demand for adecuate accommodations, rapid transit, reasonable transfers and the lowest rates of fare consistent with a profit upon invested capital.

Public docks and wharfage for public revenue and not for personal persuisites or lee Trust manipulation. An administration of the Police Department above suspicion and which will reward merit, recornize courage, advance the competent, punish the delin cuent, prevent extortion and make the police force the pride, the reliance, the saferuard of the city. A non-partisan administration of the city government in all its departments, with equal rights to all and special favors to none.

No "boss," no bribery, no police corruption,

"boss," no bribery, no police corruption

No "boss," no bribery, no police corrustion, no favored gambling houses, no Red Light district, a free city and a free people, with a regulated liberty of conscience and action and a recognition of the fact that New York, as the greatest and most cosmopolitan city in the world, must stand for liberty, guided but not oppressed by law.

Tenth—We declare that the duty of party in this campaign, and, therefore, piedge ourselves, but only as Democrats but as citizens, to fully and heartily support the ticket that, as the result of much miss counsel, has been acrossed upon to represent the allied forces appeared to Tammany and Crokerism and their the general issues of the campaign we cannot better express the sentiments for which we stand than by adopting and

In his opinion the claims of the Union for recognition had been fully met in the selection of J. Edward Swanstrom, one of its representatives, for the Presidency of the borough, and the tender of nominations for Coroner and Magistrates. He was positive that the Republicans would be unwilling to make any further concession and notified the Conference Committee of the Union to that effect.

It was regarded as significant yesterday that the action of these various non-nominating bodies in indorsing Mr. Low at this time is taken before the Tammany convention and before the name of the Tammany candidate is known. The members of the organizations all say that it makes no difference to them who is named by Tammany, and that they are against the Hall's ticket no matter whose name it bears. Mr. Low's supporters are much encouraged at this, for it shows that the members of the various organizations are not to be deceived by any figurehead which Tammany may put up.

To-day or to-morrow Mr. Low will select campaign headquarters near Twenty-third street and Broadway. These headquarters will be independent of those established by the various political organizations that have put him in nomination, and from them Mr. Low's personal campaign will be managed entirely. John C. Clark, the well-known lawyer, who is acting as political secretary for Mr. Low, will have charge of the headquarters, and will keep everything running smoothly in the canvass.

Mr. Low finds that it takes a great deal of time to read all the letters that are sent him, but he insists on doing this part of the work himself, because some persons write to him personal matters which they would not like to have any one else read. He opens all of his own mail, and reads every letter that is sent to him. Of course it is not possible for him to answer all of them personally, but all of them receive his personal attention.

—Row Was Continuous—Proceedings.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 1.-Mayor James M. Seymour of Newark was nominated as the Democratic candidate for Governor to-day by the most boisterous convention seen here in many years. In making the nomination the Democracy of New Jersey dealt a severe blow to the political aspiration of ex-United States Senator James Smith, the recognized leader of the opposition, who turned out to beat Seymour, not only for personal reasons, but to prove to his party that he had lost none of his political prestige. The victory, however, was incomplete, for Senator Smith's lieutenant succeeded in capturing a majority of the members of the new State Committee, thereby insuring for him the present control

During the three hours in which the convention was in session, the scenes of disorder were such as to beggar description. From the time the curtain rose on the first act at 12:20 until it was rung down at 5:30, there were hardly five consecutive minutes when there was even a semblance of order. There was another outbreak of mingled cheers and groans when ex-Judge Robert 8. Woodruff of Mercer was introduced as the State Committee's choice for temporary chairman. His address was greeted with the same mingled expressions.

"We are here," said Judge Woodruff, "to nominate, not the candidate of the party, but the next Governor of New Jersey.

The real struggle began with the appointment of committees composed of one member from each county. Essex had two sets of delegates clamoring for recognition. The anti-Seymour faction was headed by Senstor Smith, Elvin W. Crane and James H. Nugent, while Joseph R. Buchanan was chairman of the Seymour faction, many of whom were without credentials. Mr. Buchanan stole a march by submitting a list of Essex committeemen before Chairman Crane of the regulars was on his feet. Twenty minutes of pandemonium reigned while a score of delegates tried in vain to make themselves heard and others hurled epithets at their opponents. Crane at last got the floor "The delegates of Essex county went into caucus last Saturday," he began. "More than two-thirds of them——.

"You're a liar!" was the next interruption, and Mr. Crane at last abandoned his effort to be heard. Then Chairman Woodruff ruled that the Crane appointments should be accepted and this brought the Seymour followers to their feet in an instant, shouting and hurling threats at the chairman. Congressman Allan McDermott of Jersey City clambered to the platform to speak for the Seymour interests, being closely followed by Frank McDermit of Essex, one of two anti-Seymour men. Congressman McDermott asked that the case of followed by Frank McDermit of Essex, one of two anti-Seymour men. Congressman McDermott asked that the case of the Essex delegates who claimed recognition, as well as the appointment of the Essex committee members, be left to the Committee on Credentials. Mr. McDermit opposed it but his voice was drowned in the uproar. He carried his point, however, the result being made known only after every glass on the table had been shattered by the vigorous blows from the chairman's gavel.

William B. Gourley was made permanent chairman and the credentials committee's report was accepted after a fight. After a platform had been adopted condemning everything Republican and extolling the Democratic party, nominations were called overything Republican and extending the Democratic party, nominations were called for. Atlantic county nominated Thomas M. Ferrell of Gloucester and Burlington without making a formal nomination en-dorsed the candidacy of Mayor Seymour of Newark. Camden presented the name of Judge Howard Carrow, and Passaic, that of Christian Braun. Mayor Seymour was formally nominated by Senator Hudsof Hudson, while Union named James

On the first ballot Seymour had as votes to as for Ferrell, the next highest candidate. On the next vote, Camden, Camberland and Bergen swung into the Seymour ranks followed by a general stampede in favor of the Newark Mayor, his own county at the end being the only one which did not endorse him. The Essex delegates remained sullen and silent to the end.

Missky admitted his crime to the detectives at headquarters, and said that he had obtained the money by means of a check signed by Resnick. The check was given to him by Resnick to get it cashed, and he failed to return with the money.

Resnick, when he found that Missky had vanished with the money, declared that he was too busy to hunt him up. His wife, however, declared that she would find the absconder, and by inquiries among his absconder, and by inquiries among friends ascertained that he had gone friends ascertained that he had gone to Baltimore. Securing a note of introduction from Chief Titus of New York, to Capt. Pumphrey, she came to Baltimore and Missky was found in a house on South

AMERICAN-SPOKEN ENGLISH. President Thomas of Bryn Mawr Says It

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 1.-Miss M. Carey Thomas, President of Bryn Mawr College, in her address to the students in opening the collegiate year to-day, said the believed that the English spoken by she people of this country would be the standard for English-speaking people in the world. She said:

"In travelling in England this summer, when I reached the counties of Lincolnshire and Yorkshire, I was astonished to find that the people on the streets and in the hotels spoke both in accentuation and pronunciation like Americans. When I read my guide book I found that many of the well-known settlers of Pennsylvaria and the Middle States had come from just these counties. The greatest number of the English-speaking race to-day are Americans, and it is our duty and your duty as the English-speaking race to-day are Americans, and it is our duty and your duty as college women to uphold the standard of English speech and to speak good, pure, simple English. In all probability in the future the English spoken by Americans will come to be, simply on account of our greater numbers, the standard of English throughout the world. We must see to it that in our mouths it loses nothing of its wonderful beauty."

SEVENTEEN DEAD IN MINE FIRE. Some of the Victims Were Members of a

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 1.-It is now believed fire in No. 2 shaft of the Dunsmuir coal mine at Extension, forty miles from here. Some of the victims were members of a rescue party. They entered the mine after the ire started last evening and were cut off by the series of explosions which followed.

The escape of James Thomas, a rope rider, was thrilling. He rides with the trips, and was going down when he saw the fire down the slope. As he sprang off the cars and turned to run George Southcombe and Eugene Griffiths, two timbermen who were working close to where the fire started, called to him to come with them, but Thomas ran full speed up the slope, which is 1,000 feet from the level to the mouth, and barely saved his life by fleetness of foot. Southcombe and Griffiths were overtaken by smoke and flames and perished as they ran.

The first relieving party, composed of twelve men, never returned. Andrew Bryden, Sam Bryden and Alexander Falds followed in search of the twelve men.

DROP DIVVER, OR YOUR JOBS.

SHALL WE BOLT TAMMANY? THE QUESTION IN THE SECOND.

Croker Has Turned Divver Off -Chairman of the Divver Committee of 100 Won't Bolt, Whatever the Committee Deeldes to Do -Divver Threatens To.

Of the 300 or more Tammany Hall men city jobs only two so far have disregarded the advice of the deposed district leader Patrick Divver, to hold their tongues for two were Thomas Moore and Dennis O'Rourke, who got $1,200 a year as inspectors in the Highway Department. Then they heard yesterday that Divver had threatened to fight Tammany Hall because Croker had refused to reinstate him and turn down his successful rival, Councilman Foley, the two highway inspectors declared that they would stand by Divver in a fight against Croker or anybody else. Councilman Foley heard of it and before night the men had lost their turned him down." Assemblyman James A. Rierdon, who is President of the P. Divver Association won't run the risk that Meore and O'Rourke took. He presided at the meeting at the Divver headquarters on Monday night when a committee of 100 was appointed to consider the advisability of boiting Tammany and supporting the fusion ticket. That committee will report to Judge Divver to-committee will report to Juage but morrow night.

If the committee decides to take the P. If the committee decides to take the P. Divver Association away from Tammany the ex-leader's club will have to get a new President. Rierdon said last night that he had fought for Divver all his life and would fight for him again inside the organization but not outside.

"I must recognize Mr. Foley as the leader of the district," said the President of Divver's organization, "and I'll stand by him regardless of what my old friends may decide to do. I am for Tammany Hall all the time and if the Divver Club gets out it will have to go without me."

out it will have to go without me."

The Foley Club was crowded last night with the followers of the new leader, swearing allegiance and looking for jobs. Foley himself said that at his next meeting Assem-Over at the Divver headquarters in Madison street half a dozen men held the fort all by themselves and figured out what will happen when Judge Divver goes over to the anti-Tammany crowd. Judge Divver wasn't there, but his son represented him. Young Divver said that his father could control enough votes to carry the Second Assembly district for Seth Low and intimated that that was what would happen.

"There are about 5,000 Tammany voters in this district," he said. "If the Divver Association decides to bolt 2,500 of them will be carried over to the other side and that will give the district to the fusion crowd by a majority of about a thousand. Judge Bolte, who is managing the fight for Judge Divver, will probably confer with some wing of the anti-Tammany forces to day to see what inducements there with some wing of the anti-Tammany forces to-day to see what inducements there are to bolt.

"Of course we will lose the patronage," said young Divver last night, "but revenge is worth a good deal. We were beaten by Devery's thugs and Foley's colonizers. I wasn't allowed to vote at the primaries and neither was my father nor brother. The police kept us all away and something's going to be done about it.

"My father went to see Mr. Croker and explained to him how Foley had won the primary fight by crocked methods. He then asked Mr. Coker to reinstate him and not to recognize Mr. Foley. My father got no satisfaction. Mr. Croker told him to come back here and get in line."

Councilman Foley had a different version of that interview between Croker and Divver. He said:
"Divver went up to the club with a whine and asked Mr. Croker to fight his battles for him. Mr. Croker told him to, be a man and fight his own battle next year and in the meantime to be regular and support me. In talking about bolting now Divver is showing his true colors. He's made half a million out of Tammany. What does he want now?"
